WOMAN'S WORLD AND WORK....

SUMMER RAIN. From the Fountain of Victor Hugo: "How soft the eye with asper light, Fresh cool'd by showers of sage, Oh come my love to the wonderland."

The very nose in Diamond spray, Crosses your dainty feet with rain, The doves swing low with wings downcast,

Leaves of fragrance and charms With coming and returning from thrushing blossoms,

They watch pearl drops in the dewy rose,

Wings spread to ward off harm,

The rain sprayed the world with tears,

The sky greened, not wet,

On hilltops in vale, on mountain, in dales,

Nature painted in radiant hue,

With a network of silver stars,

The stream of the plain in swollen grace,

Tossed hearts asleep and kiss'd,

Blades singed in bright of a storm,

And made for the ant both weaker and drone,

A Niagara with foaming falls.

FORMER TULSAN WEARING CROIX DE GUERRE ENLISTS

Paul Jensen, former resident of Tulsa, who enlisted in the Oklahoma Guards at the outbreak of the war with Germany has recently returned from overseas with the Thirty-fourth division. He spent almost a year in France and was decorated with the Croix de Guerre for gallantry in the Argonne drive. He was wounded from shrapnel explosion while in a fierce battle in the Champagne region, but is half as healthy as ever. He was discharged on the 12th and is ready to resume my life already. "Ottoman life doesn't appeal to me, and I want to get back into the service again," he told Corporal Bradford of the army recruiting station. "Ship me over for the Philippines this time, and I'm ready to go." Being a perfect physical specimen, he was readily accepted, and will leave for Oklahoma City Monday, from there he will go to Fort Logan, Colo., and from there to San Francisco, where he will embark for the Philippines.

The local army recruiting station leads the entire state in the number of recruits secured so far this month. There are 11 stations in the state. The total number of recruits secured this month is upwards of 70, and it is believed that June will be a record month in obtaining enlistments.
